OFF-CAMPUS COURSES

ASC-106: May Term in Asia: Vietnam
Description: This course focuses on Vietnamese culture, the effects of the American war on the place it was fought, and the country that has grown up since the guns went silent in 1975. Travels throughout the country will include time in the South (including Ho Chi Minh City/Saigon and the Mekong Delta), in the center (the old imperial capital of Hue, Danang, Hoi An, and the former DMZ), and in the North (Hanoi and environs).
Application: apply with instructor(s)
Estimated cost: $2890

BIO-115: Marine Biology
Description: A survey of marine organisms and communities with emphasis on tropical systems. The primary field analyses focus on the dynamics of coral reefs, tidal regions, and turtle grass meadows.
Application: apply with instructor
Estimated cost: $2275

BIO-905: Southern Africa
Description: This course is designed to increase student awareness of the diverse ecosystems and human cultures in southern Africa within a context of the challenges posed by the HIV/AIDS pandemic and climate change.
Application: apply with instructor(s)
Estimated cost: $3000

BUS-XXX: “Made in Italy” Competing in a Global Marketplace
Description: Through travel in Italy, students will be introduced to what it means to be “made in Italy” in the 21st century. The course examines factors contributing to the success of family-run businesses, small- and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), and “pocket multinationals” in Italy in an era when large multinational corporations dominate the global marketplace.
Application: apply with instructor

ECO-915: Economics of Renewable Energies
Description: This course examines three alternative sources of clean energy – wind, biomass, and solar – using economic methods and equity analysis. Federal and State government policies that impact development and adoption of new technologies will also be addressed.
Application: apply with instructor
Estimated cost: $150

ENG-XXX: Jane Austen
Description: Students will read four of Jane Austen’s novels alongside some of her letters and bits of family biography. Students will consider why it is that her fiction is so enduringly popular and examine the cultural position accorded to Austen at the beginning of the 21st century by embarking upon a tour of sites central to Austen’s life in London, Bath, and Hampshire.
Application: apply with instructor
Estimated cost: TBD

Description: Students will travel to Berlin to investigate first-hand the history of the Holocaust and then to The Hague to observe contemporary proceedings at the ICC. This course is designed to edify students in any discipline who are interested in experiencing the relevance of mid-20th-century history in the context of the present day.
Application: apply with instructor
Estimated cost: $3000

FSA-100: Spain
Description: This course will be conducted based at the University of Alicante, Spain, and is designed for students with an Elementary II or Intermediate I level of Spanish who want to improve and reinforce both their oral and grammar skills.
Application: apply with instructor
Estimated cost: TBD

RHE-335: Writers Colony: Walking in England’s Lake District
Description: Tourist-type activities combine with academic work relevant to the course (walking through several London parks and studying 18th- and 19th-century English landscape painting at the Tate and National art galleries) through the Lake District in Cumbria, England. Course reading assignments focus on the works of several 19th-century writers who lived in or visited the area.
Application: application available from instructor prior to October 19.
Estimated cost: $2600

RHE-367: Lakota Culture
Description: An intensive, intercultural service-learning program taught off-campus on a Lakota (Sioux) Indian Reservation. Students are immersed into Lakota reservation life through volunteering at a school and living in the community.
Application: apply with instructor
Estimated cost: $1200

THE-408: May Term in London
Description: Students visit a variety of venues to view productions in the performing arts (dance, music, theatre) and works of fine art (museums/art collections/galleries) throughout London.
Application: apply with instructor(s)
Estimated cost: $3200
ON-CAMPUS COURSES

INT-895: Internship in Health and Science
An internship related to the student’s field of interdisciplinary study. A minimum of 140 hours on-site experience is required. S/U basis only. Supervised by the Director of Internships.

Prerequisites: junior standing and approval of an interdisciplinary major.

MAY-XXX: Seminar in Leadership
Offered by Wendy Dunn and Lou Stark
This course acquaints students with the theory and practice of leadership through a combination of readings, lectures, group discussions, in-class simulations, presentations, and multiple experiential components. Course activities include opportunities to interact with “leaders in residence” who will be invited to serve as discussants and as mentors for students. This course offers practicum credit.

Prerequisite: consent of instructor(s)

PHY-535: Advanced Lab I: Research Tech in Physics
Extensive independent or group investigations of a particular topic or set of topics. Designed to be a research experience in preparation for teaching, graduate school, or direct entry into a technical field after graduation. The May Term course prepares students for summer research at Coe and at collaborating labs, and is designed to provide hands-on instrumental training. Advanced Laboratory I (PHY-535) may be repeated as Advanced Laboratory II (PHY-545).

Prerequisite: consent of instructor

MAY TERM GUIDELINES

Students participating officially in a May Term off-campus course must:

- Sign the required Coe College May Term Agreement before registering or depositing.
- Make at least a $250 non-refundable deposit prior to the deadline established by the instructor or January 22, whichever is earlier. (See cancellation policy below.)
- For courses with international travel, provide evidence of a passport, which is current for the time range of any international travel.
- Pay in full all fees for the May Term course at least one week prior to departure for the trip.
- Travel with the group starting at the point of origin and returning with the group to the origination point.
- Be current on student billing account.

Cancellation policy: The $250 deposit is refundable only before the deadline or if the course is canceled. The entire course cost may be forfeited, and if a student has yet to make the deposits that cover recoverable costs, Coe College has the right to bill the student for the outstanding balance. A refund for cancellations occurring after February 1, 2012, is based upon costs actually recoverable by Coe. Because course costs are based on group arrangements, recoverable costs will not be determined until after the completion of the program. If cancellation occurs within 30 days prior to departure, the student is responsible for the entire tuition and costs.
