Dear Kohawks,

As we start another term together amidst the pandemic, we are writing to share important information and resources related to COVID-19.

What should I do if I test positive for COVID-19?

Students are required to notify the college by contacting covid@coe.edu in order to arrange appropriate housing for students who live on campus and who do not have off campus options available for quarantining. The COVID response team will then notify the Learning Commons for assistance with academic accommodations, and will conduct any necessary contact tracing. See the COVID policies for more information on the quarantine process.

What should I do if I'm considered a close contact (within 6 feet for a total 15 minutes in a 24-hour period) of someone who has tested positive?

The guidance is different for vaccinated and unvaccinated students. Anyone who has not registered their fully vaccinated status with the college will be considered unvaccinated for contact tracing and quarantine/isolation purposes. Please see the attached resources to guide next steps related to isolation procedures. If you are notified that you are a close contact by anyone other than Coe College, please notify covid@coe.edu so the college can determine the next appropriate step. See the COVID policies for more information on the isolation process.

What should I do if I'm feeling ill?

Living in close quarters with a large group of people means that spreading illness, including COVID-19, is a common occurrence. While Coe College is a highly vaccinated campus, many other illnesses will likely present themselves on campus this fall semester. If you are ill, contact your professor with notification of your absence and do not attend class in person until your symptoms have resolved.

Local testing and health care resources are listed below, and additional information will be sent from Health and Wellness this week. Test Iowa at-home kits can be mailed to students through the Test Iowa link below, and where students are unable to access the many local and free testing sites and health appointments, Health Services has access to a limited number of at-home test kits as well. These can be requested through o-healthservices@coe.edu.

Please reach out to the COVID response team at any time with questions or concerns. Stay safe and healthy Kohawks!
