International Club Explores Chicago During Fall Break

The international club and the E.S.L programs sponsored a trip to Chicago for three days and two nights during fall break (October 11-13).

“The Chicago trip is a trip held during fall break, open to all students,” said Abhinav Shrestha, who is senior and the president of international club. “This is always a wonderful opportunity for international students as well as domestic students who can’t go home for break, to experience the art and culture of a historically diverse, major Midwest city.”

Students said the trip was a great cultural experience and a chance for everyone to explore a big, bustling city in the Midwest. All students took a bus and stayed in a hostel named Hosteling International Chicago.

The entry fee of the Chicago trip was only 35 dollars and everyone had free time to do whatever they liked. Also, international club executives offered information about good places to visit like museums, shopping centers, restaurants and towers to help students’ itinerary. In total, 77 students took part in the trip.

Chicago Theater. Photo by Jieun Kim

Story Continued on Page 2
Cont. From Page 1

“This was the second time preparing for the trip as an executive member,” said Kei Yoshida, who is junior and the vice president of international club. “I would say it was one of the smoothest trips. One obstacle was trying to handle the large number of the group but it was just a matter of good communication and teamwork.”

Risa and Hinako, who are international students, said they enjoyed the trip. “It was very exciting experience for us,” said Risa. “We went to various places like the Art Institute of Chicago, Willis Tower and shopping center in Chicago. It was so different from Cedar Rapids, so we were happy to experience America’s city life.”
Pulitzer Prize winning journalist and editor of The Storm Lake Times, Art Cullen, held a talk called “Not the Enemy of the People: How Journalists Protect Democracy Nationally and Locally” on Wednesday, October 17 in Kesler Auditorium.

The event, moderated by Visiting Assistant Professor of Communication Studies, Dr. Shawn Harmsen, was the third and last part of a campus-wide series called Listen/Learn/Act, organized by Allison Carr. It focused on how people can make an impact on the policies and quality of life in local communities.

Art Cullen, 59, is co-owner with his older brother John of The Storm Lake Times, a newspaper in Storm Lake, in rural Northwest Iowa. Art is a Storm Lake native who obtained his bachelor’s degree in journalism from the University of St. Thomas in St. Paul, MN.

In 2017, Cullen won the Pulitzer Prize for Editorial Writing with a series of editorials against big corporate agricultural industry.

“Storm Lake was a hotspot on the Raccoon River for nitrogen pollution,” said Cullen.

He and his brother started looking into it, witnessing erosion and other damages caused by agricultural practices. They proceeded to take pictures and wrote an editorial against industrial agriculture and corporate agribusiness.

It was this editorial that guaranteed him the Prize and that sparked the idea for his book, Storm Lake: A Chronicle of Change, Resilience, and Hope from a Heartland Newspaper.

The book focuses on Storm Lake, a community that is changing and growing with immigrants from all over the world and that is constantly facing new challenges.

“Storm Lake is a meat-packing town where about 90% of our elementary schools are children of color and about 75% of them are Latino,” said Cullen.

At the event, there were copies of Storm Lake available for purchase and Cullen was available to sign them after the talk. Cullen also spoke about the importance of journalism in civic engagement and the crucial role of the press in today’s democracy, among other things.

“Journalism is the entire foundation of civic engagement,” said Cullen. “An informed electorate is the cornerstone of democracy. Newspaper circulation has been declining, while civic ignorance has been on the rise in the United States for the last forty years... There is a crisis in democracy right now and there is a crisis in the newspaper industry and I believe it’s an inti-

Despite all the challenges that print journalism faces today, Cullen remains positive. He said he doesn’t know what the future of journalism will be, but that he will not stop doing journalism.

“I love journalism,” said Cullen. “It is the funniest job to have, one where you can get paid for writing. And you can actually make a difference.”
Coe Students Vote for Midterm Elections on Campus

An early voting event took place at Coe College in Lower Gage between 10 AM to 4 PM Tuesday, October 16. Volunteers helped students and community members through registration processes, absentee voting, and pre-registered voting.

If anyone was unable to vote during the early voting held at Coe, you can still vote up until election day, November 6 at your county auditor’s office. If you are unable to get to the office, request an absentee ballot before October 27 and mail it to the Auditor’s office. Ballots must be postmarked before November 5 and be received by November 13 to be counted.

In order to vote in Iowa, you must have one or more of the following ID’s: an Iowa driver’s license or non-operator ID card, a U.S.A passport, U.S.A. military ID, an ID card issued by an employer, Iowa college or high school with an expiration date, a Tribal ID card, or if you haven’t changed your license yet and you are a resident of Iowa bring you out of state license and proof of address.

Candidates being voted on this election for IA Governor are, Kim Reynolds (R), Fred Hubbell (D), and Jake Porter (L). For Secretary of state, Paul Pate (R), Deidre DeJear (D), and Jules Ofenbakh (L). Running for IA Treasurer, Jeremy Davis (R), Mike Fitzgerald (D), and Timothy Hird (L). IA State Auditor, Mary Mosiman (R), Rob Sand (D), and Fred Perryman (L). Running for Attorney General are Tom Miller (D), and Marco Battaglia (L). Running for Secretary of Agriculture are Mike Naig (R), Tim Gannon (D), and Rick Stewart (L).
Kohawk Start Up to Come Soon

Kohawk Startup is an event occurring on October 26 and October 27 on campus at the Athletics and Recreation Complex, rooms 218A/219B.

It starts on October 26 at 6 pm with a dinner, idea generation team forming, and work time. Then on the 27th there will be a breakfast, mentor matching, work time, lunch, pitch presentations and judging and you could come out with a cash prize by the end. The entire weekend will be facilitated by one of Coe’s own alumnus, David Tominsky (‘98), who is with NewBoCo and the Iowa Startup Accelerator.

“Kohawk Startup is a way to infuse entrepreneurialism into the Coe College experience,” said Barb Tupper from C3. “It is for any student, any grade level.”

The entire event is free of charge, you just have to sign up. There will be prizes given to the top two teams: $1000 to the first place team and $500 to the second place team according to Tupper.

“You don’t need an idea or a team in order to participate in Kohawk Startup,” said Tupper. “Just come with an open mind and be ready to work through the entrepreneurial process. You will work in teams that will be coached by professional mentors offering their advice and connections to help you succeed.”

“This is a safe space and you have nothing to lose,” said Tupper. “If you’re on the fence, register for the event for Friday night and come check it out.”

Want to register for Kohawk Startup? Go to https://newbo.co/kohawk-startup/

Campus Activities and Opportunities

October 19
The Ghost of Vorhees Hall, presentation by Bethany Keenan in Kesler at 3 pm

October 20
LoCoe at 1 pm by Stuart Memorial Library

October 20
Quidditch Tournament at 10 am on the A/D Quad

October 21
Fall Faculty Recital in Daehler-Kitchin at 2 pm

October 23
Student of Color Career Workshop in Clark Alumni House
Kohawks will have a great opportunity to indulge themselves in the local culture of Cedar Rapids this weekend in the LoCoe Festival organized by the Student Senate. The event, that will kick off on Saturday afternoon, will feature musical performances of local artists, food and games.

The senate organizes a lot of events during the spring, but however that includes events such as flunk day, Student Body President, Fatima Elsheikh believes that there is not many events during the fall that students can enjoy. This was one of the major driving force for the senate to organize LoCoe says Elsheikh.

She added, “Me and Lotu are both from Cedar Rapids and we hear people say that the city does not have much to offer. Therefore, after we took office, LoCoe was an event that we really wanted to organize as it emphasizes and promotes local culture, food and activities from Cedar Rapids.”

In previous years, the senate organized the Big Band where a quite popular musical group was invited.

“For these events, the senate had to spend extravagantly,” said Elsheikh. "And yet as only one genre of music was possible to be incorporated, only a limited amount of students showed up for the event as it did not cater to the taste of a large group of students.”

During the festival that is scheduled to start after 1 pm, Saturday, four local artists of different genres from Cedar Rapids will be performing. This includes funk, soul/R&B, rock and hip-hop.

In addition to music, the event will also feature a plethora of cuisines from restaurants native to the city, including O’s Grill, Rio Burritos, The Full Bowl, Almost Famous Popcorn, and many more. Food is free for all Coe Students who have registered for the event and cuisines include Mediterranean, Mexican, Vegetarian or Vegan and many more according to the Student Senate.

The Student Senate has also designed a special shirt for LoCoe which was priced at $10 a unit. According to Elsheikh, it has been a common misconception among students that the entry fee for the fair is $10. She stressed on the fact that the entry fee is completely free.

“Coe students who have registered online or via on the spot registration will receive a wrist band through which students may get free food,” said Elsheikh.

Although the event was initially scheduled to happen at the New Apartments Quad, due to technical difficulties, it will be organized on the ground in front of Stuart Memorial Library.
Profile: Professor Caio Barca Bragatto from Coe College’s Physics Department

“I wanted to be everything,” said Bragatto. “I wanted to be a historian, dentist, cook, sportsman...everything.”

He didn't think he had a true calling like some other people may have. Bragatto said he doesn't have a degree in physics, but rather he eventually ended up with a bachelor in chemistry and a masters and Ph.D. in material science and engineering. Bragatto said he wanted to change his field of study so he did his graduate school in material science and engineering, in hopes it would be more interesting.

Bragatto is from Sao Paulo, Brazil and got his undergraduate degree at Sao Carlos and then his masters and Ph.D. in the same city, just a different university.

“I did a post doctorate in Germany and stayed there for two years,” said Bragatto.

He enjoyed much of his time in Brazil, he really enjoyed Carnival which happens in February which is summer there, it is a very big street party.

“College is weird,” said Bragatto. “Enjoy the ride and try and make the most of it. You don’t have to know everything.”

A new addition to Coe College's Physics Department is Professor Caio Barca Bragatto. Bragatto is brand new at Coe and has been here for half a semester. He currently teaches Basic Physics along with all of the labs with that course.

Bragatto said he came to Coe because he had heard about the research Coe does with glass, and he is a glass researcher himself. He first learned about the research that the physics department does with glass, then about the department itself, and lastly the college.

The Garden Quarto is now accepting submissions for the Fall 2018 issue. All faculty, staff, alumni, students, and friends of the college are encouraged to submit short poetry or prose compositions, fiction or nonfiction, maximum of 500 words. Although pieces focusing on the Alumni House Garden are certainly encouraged, compositions are welcome on any topics connected with gardens, gardeners, and garden wildlife. Submissions can be sent via campus mail or to rmarrs@coe.edu. The submission deadline for the fall issue is Thursday, November 1.
Kohawk Women’s Tennis Sweeps A-R-C Titles

The Coe women’s tennis team traveled to Ankeny, Iowa for the American Rivers Conference Fall Championship. The Kohawks had strong performances, and walked home with two new titles in flight A singles and doubles.

Senior Lauren French and freshman Isabella Hoppenjans came together to make the perfect pair in doubles, winning them the Flight A bracket as the top seed. Going into the semi-finals, the duo took on Central’s Karleigh Schilling and Jenna Stewart. French and Hoppenjans walked away with an 8-3 victory. This is the Kohawk’s tenth straight win in the Flight A Doubles bracket.

Going into the singles bracket semi-finals on Saturday morning, top seeded Lauren French beat Loras’ Audrey Hinz in all three matches 7-6, 7-6, 6-1. Isabella Hoppenjans was also competing in the A-singles semifinal match. The freshman defeated Luther’s Devon Bourget 6-3, 6-3.

The championship match for Flight A singles, Hoppenjans and French went head to head for the title. French beat Hoppenjans 7-5, 6-4.

Lauren French took home the title of American Rivers Conference Champion for the second year running.

With two wins on Saturday, French moves into 10th in program history with 63 singles wins and 11th with 64 doubles wins.

As a freshman, Hoppenjans earned herself the runner-up title of the American Rivers Conference.

The American Rivers Conference Singles and Doubles Championships wrap up the fall season for the Kohawks. Kohawk tennis will return to action in the spring.

Photo by Delena Humble.

HOME SCHEDULE

10/20
Women’s Soccer vs Loras @1:00 pm

Men’s Soccer vs Lorad @3:30 pm
Adults will be allowed to buy, use, possess and grow recreational marijuana, under the law. In Quebec and Alberta, the legal age is 18; it’s 19 in the remainder of the country. The measure legalizing the recreational use of the drug passed the Senate in June.

French President Emmanuel Macron reshuffled his cabinet Tuesday and made a rare televised address to assure France that all is well after this summer’s protests, scandals, and gaffes.

At least 34 people were killed after mudslides and floods engulfed homes in eastern Uganda, according to the Uganda Red Cross Society.

A series of allegations of sexual harassment and assault has prompted the resignation of an Indian government minister, the most prominent public figure named in the country’s own #MeToo movement.
ACROSS
1 Recurring theme
6 Contemporary of Dashiell
10 Apple debut of 1998
14 Childish retort
15 Group of two
16 Santa __: Sonoma County seat
17 2005 reality show featuring Whitney Houston
20 War on Poverty org.
21 "In that event ... "
22 Kipling python
23 '60s sitcom portrayor of Cathy Lane and her "identical cousin"
27 Spin, as a baton
29 "The Simpsons' storekeeper
30 Leb. neighbor
31 Looks up to
33 Show of rural respect
35 Army NCO
37 Little piggy
38 Ginger-ale-and-grenadine "cocktail"
43 1988 noir remake
44 Ewe, say
45 Website with business reviews
55 Chinese menu standard
58 Announcer Hall
59 Protein-rich food
61 Wish undone
62 Where social graces are taught, and what 17-, 23-, 38-, and 55-Across each has
68 McFlurry cookie
69 Start of a hymn
70 Creeps-inducing
71 Arms of a starfish
72 Over and above: Abbr.
73 Silvery little fish

DOWN
1 Will Smith sci-fi series
2 Laudatory piece
3 French pronoun
4 "You're lying!" in a playground
5 "Old" old-fashioned sorts
6 Old name for Tokyo
7 Cube creator
8 Bio class cost
9 Slow Churned ice cream brand
10 Like the vb. "be"
11 Red Sox star Betts
12 Like angry bees
13 Lock sites
18 Pro wrestling throw
19 Deepest level
21 "In that event ... "
22 Kipling python
23 '60s sitcom portrayor of Cathy Lane and her "identical cousin"
24 Jungle swingers
25 Rear
26 Impulse
27 Spin, as a baton
28 Tearful
29 "The Simpsons' storekeeper
30 Leb. neighbor
31 Looks up to
33 Show of rural respect
35 Army NCO
37 Little piggy
38 Ginger-ale-and-grenadine "cocktail"
43 1988 noir remake
44 Ewe, say
45 Website with business reviews
47 Commit perjury to protect
48 Former Indian prime minister Gandhi
49 "Dog Day Afternoon" director Lumet
50 Crude model used for public ridicule
51 Many a microbrew
53 One in the middle of Knoxville?
54 FDR and JFK
55 Chinese menu standard
58 Announcer Hall
59 Protein-rich food
61 Wish undone
62 Where social graces are taught, and what 17-, 23-, 38-, and 55-Across each has
68 McFlurry cookie
69 Start of a hymn
70 Creeps-inducing
71 Arms of a starfish
72 Over and above: Abbr.
73 Silvery little fish