Scope and Content

The writings included in the collection cover her poetry from college years 1949 to just before her death in 2024. Also included are her many prose works of Chap Books, articles, dialogues, plays and a memoir. She conducted many interviews with other notable authors such as David Ray and Gwendolyn Brooks, transcriptions of which are included. There are some personal notes and correspondence. If Ann had pieces labeled to be in a certain subject category, such as “short poems” then that was maintained. As were some names and words with nontraditional spelling. But most of the collection was organized by the Archivist as it appears.

Biographical Note:

Ann was born in Terril, Iowa 1930 and died in Cedar Rapids, Iowa in 2024. She went to college at Morningside in Sioux City, Iowa. Eventually receiving her Masters and PhD from the University of Iowa.

Full name Eleanor Ann Mohr Struthers but everyone knew her as “Ann”. Her extensive writing career covered many areas but concentrated on poetry and prose.

Besides being a professor, 25 years at Coe College and also on faculty at University of Northern Iowa, she was a Fulbright Scholar and Malone Fellow. In 1997 she was awarded a Fulbright Fellowship and spent two years in Aleppo, Syria, teaching American Literature at the University of Aleppo. Her chapbook, ALEPPO BURNING, illuminates her time in the Middle East before the Syrian Civil War. Subsequently, she was awarded a second Fulbright Fellowship in Colombo, Sri Lanka. Her chapbook of poetry, THE KINDNESS OF CROCODILES explores the magic lives of animals of Sri Lanka. Her time spent in the Middle East had a huge impact on her writing.

Besides being a prolific author and professor, she was a busy wife and mother. She was married to Mel Struthers for 68 years and had four children and five grandchildren. They loved spending time at their cabin in Spirit Lake Iowa. Another place that inspired much of her poetry. She was active in the community and writing workshops.
